

Brix Event Coverage

GigResource · 8 October 2026 · Prepared for Peter Zylstra

Short answer: don't remove any of the 31.

Removing artwork that is already drawn saves nothing, and most of the 20 are events clients genuinely book: pool parties, beach parties, tailgates, karaoke nights, Fourth of July, New Year's Eve. The cheaper move is the other direction. Add those event types to the site, which is a list change rather than a drawing job, and the unused Brix start working. Then draw a small number of new ones for the gaps that actually matter.

1. The 11 that match today

These work the moment the artwork lands. No change needed.

ID	BRIX	OUR EVENT TYPE
ID01	Wedding	Wedding
ID02	Engagement	Engagement Party
ID04	Bridal Shower	Bridal Shower
ID06	Bachelorette	Bachelor / Bachelorette Party
ID07	Birthday	Birthday Party
ID09	Graduation	Graduation
ID10	Prom Night	Prom
ID11	Baby Shower	Baby Shower
ID12	Gender Reveal	Gender Reveal
ID21	Halloween	Halloween Party
ID27	Cocktail Party	Cocktail Party

2. Four more are only a wording difference

These already exist on our side under a slightly different name. Nothing to draw, nothing to remove.

ID	BRIX	OUR WORDING TODAY	FIX
ID08	Sweet 16	Sweet Sixteen	Rename ours
ID14	Sporting Event	Sports Event	Rename ours
ID23	New Year's Eve	New Year Party	Rename ours
ID17	Christmas	Holiday Party	Keep our wording, use this Brix for the holiday season

ID03 Formal Event stays regardless. Your guide already names it the catch-all for galas, corporate and formal occasions when nothing more specific applies.

So after the wording fix, 16 of the 31 are reachable, not 11.

3. The 15 with no event type at all

These cannot appear today because a client has no way to select that event. Every one of them is a real, bookable event.

Recommendation: add the event type rather than bin the drawing.

ID	BRIX	NOTE
ID05	Bachelor Party	We combine bachelor and bachelorette into one type, so one of the two drawings sits unused. Splitting the type uses both.
ID13	Tailgate Party
ID15	Watch Party
ID16	Chinese New Year
ID18	Cinco de Mayo
ID19	Diwali
ID20	Fourth of July
ID22	Juneteenth
ID24	Pride Event
ID25	St. Patrick's Day
ID26	Club Event
ID28	Karaoke Night
ID29	Beach Party
ID30	Pool Party
ID31	Paint & Sip

4. What we still need drawn

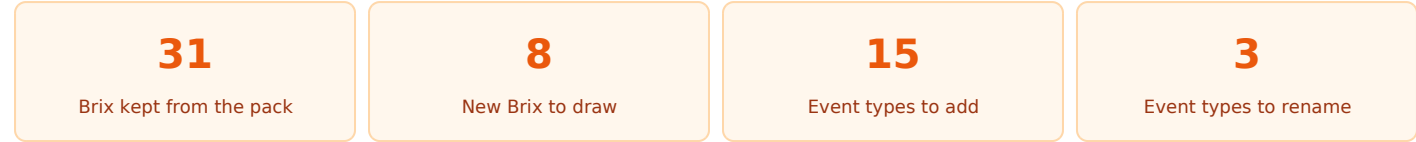

The gap runs the other way too. We offer 47 event types and 32 of them have no Brix. Most can sit on Formal Event without looking odd, but these are the ones where a generic formal mascot reads wrong and a drawing would earn its place.

#	NEW BRIX	COVERS
1	Corporate / Business	Corporate Event, Conference, Seminar, Workshop, Team Building, Trade Show, Product Launch, Grand Opening, Networking Event
2	Anniversary	Anniversary
3	Quinceañera	Quinceañera
4	Bar / Bat Mitzvah	Bar / Bat Mitzvah
5	Retirement Party	Retirement Party
6	Family Reunion	Family Reunion, Reunion
7	Concert / Live Show	Concert, Live Performance, Comedy Show, Festival
8	Religious Ceremony	Religious Ceremony

Three of these (Corporate, Conference, Anniversary) are on your own popular list, so they are among the first things a client sees.

One to exclude: Memorial / Celebration of Life.
We offer this event type and the guide has no rule for it. Falling back to Formal Event would put a cartoon mascot in a hat on a funeral. This one should show no Brix at all.

5. Where that leaves us

That gives 39 Brix against 62 event types, with every Brix reachable and every event type covered, one way or another.

Counts taken from the event types the site offers today, measured against the 31 in the Brix Placement & Usage Guide.
